
OLD SAW flooring with saw-blade pattern effect

Woodmood Old Saw flooring is industrially finished with a light saw pattern. The natural weatherworn look of Old Saw adds a personal touch and rusticity to your interior finishing that is reminiscent of old wood with its shade variations. The pattern is achieved using a special pressing tool and then painted with two layers of paint and covered with varnish, giving excellent resistance to the floor, even for rooms requiring more durable materials. The Old Saw floor makes your interior design unique and interesting.

Available in three colour shades – brown-white, grey- white, and white. Water-borne Teknos paints with an acrylate binding agent are used for painting, and varnish is applied as the last layer.

This product is only suitable for interior use. Please note! To reduce the risk of the boards later drying out, it is important that the moisture content of the boards be the same as the relative humidity level of the ambient air during installation. Therefore, it is essential to let the floorboards stabilise in the same room for at least two weeks before installation.

Tongue-and-groove floorboards can be installed like parquet boards, i.e. effectively minimising losses due to different lengths.
