
RUSTIK

interior panelling with a rustic painted surface

The Woodmood Rustik product line is characterised by painted rustic sawn surface treatment. The solid wood panelling boards are suitable for indoor use. Our RUSTIK treatment is only possible for boards with a sawn surface. These panelling boards are suitable for both new buildings and the renovation of old buildings. They can be installed both horizontally and vertically. The top surface of the panelling board is fine-sawn – this allows better absorption paint and it longer than a smooth planed surface.

Rustik boards are finished using special treatment in six colour shades – cappuccino, mint, cherry, smoke, denim and lemon.

We use water-borne Teknos paints with an acrylate binding agent that offers especially good weather-resistance. Teknos paints are manufactured in an environmentally friendly manner. Rustik is characterised by very good durability and wear resistance.

Tongue-and-groove panelling boards can be installed like parquet boards, i.e. effectively minimising losses due to different lengths.
